"It looks to me like Britney's hair extensions are too blonde compared to her natural hair. When the colour match is right, the result is a subtle and natural look. If Britney's extension specialist was to use more of her actual hair colour throughout, with pieces of lighter blonde, it would have blended well and given a much better and even result. This style is so much better than the extensions we have seen Britney wearing in the past, but I do think the haircut could be better. However making extensions look natural on very short hair is a difficult task."

colour

OH, BABY BABY!

Is Britney Spears' comeback with a full head of hair extensions making the right impression?

"Oh dear, poor Britney, didn't have a very good 2008 and this outfit didn't help much. Hot pants are supposed to be short but not so short that your bottom hangs out! On a positive note, lace is very now and the trim on the top is both pretty and girly. Satin can be quite sexy but I would have put Britney in close fitting shiny trousers. Alternatively, instead of fish nets, I would use lace tights which look great on anyone."
